

and all cars must be smog tested to standard in order to be registered. H.R. 8 will simply help to level the playing field, and target and reduce a known pollution problem. While it would initially apply only to California, other border states are given the flexibility to implement the authority of the bill as they might see fit in the future. It is important to note that H.R. 8 places no new mandates or requirements on other states.

I am pleased to be a cosponsor of this measure, and I urge all of my Colleagues to support this common-sense legislation.

Mr. WAXMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to speak on H.R. 8, The Border Smog Reduction Act of 1998.

I want to commend Chairman BLILEY, Chairman BILIRAKIS, Representative BILBRAY, Representative BROWN, and Representative STUPAK for working together to perfect this bill. H.R. 8 has been significantly improved from the version originally introduced.

As currently written, this legislation will make a modest improvement over current law authorizing the federal government to assist States in efforts to control air pollution from vehicles registered in foreign countries.

This legislation is not perfect and I remain concerned about an approach which statutorily restricts vehicles from entering the San Diego border more than twice in any one year. I question whether it will be possible to inspect and repair vehicles commuting daily from Mexico in only two visits. It's not difficult to imagine a host of problems when this plan is actually implemented.

Additionally, I think it's a mistake to exclude commercial traffic in San Diego from federal enforcement, when light-duty commercial traffic is responsible for the same types of air pollution problems that noncommercial traffic is. In effect, this legislation will focus on pollution from commuting workers and students, while ignoring pollution from commercial vehicles.

Notwithstanding these reservations, I commend Representative BILBRAY for resolving most of my concerns. I am especially pleased that California will have the option of changing their program from the prescriptive one mandated in this legislation.

I also want to commend Representative BROWN for a study he has sponsored that will analyze the impacts on air quality associated with the passage of the North American Free Trade Act. This will provide critical information for future efforts to control the adverse environmental effects of foreign diesel trucks entering our country.

Mr. BROWN of Ohio. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. BILBRAY. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from California (Mr. BILBRAY) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 8, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds having voted in favor thereof) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

(C) LIMITATIONS.—In no event may the amount determined under this paragraph for an individual with respect to a year exceed the amount that, if added to the amount of the contributions that were actually made by such individual to the Thrift Savings Fund with respect to such year (if any), would cause the total to exceed—

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. STEARNS). Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Florida (Mr. MICA) and the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. CUMMINGS) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Florida (Mr. MICA).

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. MICA. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days within which to revise and extend their remarks on H.R. 3249, as amended, the bill under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Florida?

There was no objection.

Mr. MICA. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I come before the House this afternoon to present the Federal Retirement Coverage Corrections Act. This legislation is critically important to thousands of our Federal employees. This is a piece of legislation that has very strong bipartisan support. Both Republicans and Democrat members of our Subcommittee on Civil Service of the Committee on Government Reform and Oversight are original cosponsors of this bill.

I want to take first a moment, Mr. Speaker, to thank the distinguished ranking member of the Subcommittee on Civil Service, the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. CUMMINGS), for his leadership on this issue. He and I have worked very closely on this bill, and I appreciate the hard work that he has put forth. I also want to commend the work of both the majority and minority staff on this issue. I know the gentleman from Maryland is truly personally dedicated to bringing real relief to victims of these errors and the victims who testified before our Subcommittee on Civil Service.

I also commend the distinguished gentlewoman from Maryland (Mrs. MORELLA). The gentlewoman has always been a forceful advocate for our Federal employees, and on this issue that is no exception. She has been a true leader and champion. The Federal civil service employees who were misclassified, and their families, have benefitted greatly from her strong determination and her leadership in trying to right these wrongs.

I also want to take this opportunity to thank the distinguished chairman and ranking member of the Committee on Government Reform and Oversight, the gentleman from Indiana (Mr. BURTON) and the gentleman from California (Mr. WAXMAN), for their support.

Likewise, I appreciate the cooperation of the chairman and ranking member of the Committee on Ways and Means, the gentleman from Texas (Mr. ARCHER) and the gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL). Staffs of the Committee on Ways and Means and the Joint Committee on Taxation provided invaluable guidance on tax and Social Security issues involved in crafting this legislation.

Mr. Speaker, let me take a few minutes to explain why it is so important for the House to pass this bill today. An estimated 18,000 Federal employees have been placed in the wrong retirement system because Federal agencies, quite frankly, made mistakes. Federal agencies fouled up. The vast majority of these errors involved assignments to the Civil Service Retirement System, CSRS, or the Federal Employees Retirement System, generally known as FERS. But other agency blunders wrongly excluded some employees from both retirement systems. Still others were included in retirement when they did not qualify at all.

When these errors are discovered, and I say are discovered because not all of them have been discovered, current law requires agencies to move them into the right retirement system. These corrections are especially harmful to employees who are moved from Civil Service Retirement, the old system, into FERS, the new system.

Unlike the Civil Service Retirement System, which is the stand-alone system, the new system, FERS, consists of three components: the FERS basic annuity, Social Security, and the Thrift Savings Plan, or TSP. Without adequate Thrift Savings Plan accounts, employees will not have adequate retirement income, but current corrective procedures do not make the victim's TSP account whole. As a result, unless Congress acts, many victims of these errors will receive much less when they retire than they were really entitled to.

H.R. 3249 provides a comprehensive solution to all of these errors. Although its details are complicated, it rests on a few basic, simple, straightforward principles.

This bill recognizes that most victims of these agency errors had a legal right to participate in one of the Federal retirement systems. Therefore, each of these victims should have an opportunity to elect to participate in that system. They also have a right to receive approximately the same retirement benefits they could have earned if the agency had not erred.

But the bill also recognizes that these victims have relied on the benefits promised under the system to which they were assigned. Accordingly, victims are generally given a choice to remain in the system in which they were mistakenly placed.

Mr. Speaker, every victim should have a realistic opportunity to the retirement correction that best addresses their unfortunate circumstance. Therefore, this legislation provides fair, make-whole relief.

The importance of this make-whole relief cannot be overemphasized. Without it, the choices offered by this bill would be nothing but a cruel hoax for many of our Federal employees. Lower-income employees, and those who have been in the wrong system for a lengthy period, would be especially hard hit.

Let me cite an example described by the American Foreign Service Association. For about 10 years a foreign service officer was erroneously enrolled in the wrong system. When the error was discovered, he was switched to the right system. He was also told that he would have to contribute $65,000 to $75,000 to catch up on his Thrift Savings Plan account. In addition to that retroactive contribution, he would also have to make current contributions to the TSP. Mr. Speaker, few Federal employees could afford to meet such a burden. That is why this bill's make-whole relief is absolutely imperative.

Mr. Speaker, this legislation also protects the integrity of Social Security trust funds and prevents employees from incurring unfair tax burdens because these agency errors are corrected.

This has been, as I said, a joint effort, a bipartisan effort, to correct a wrong that was done to our Federal employees and Federal workers. This is, indeed, an effort to correct that situation, and this corrective legislation deserves the support of every Member of the House.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. CUMMINGS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I am pleased that the gentleman from Florida (Mr. MICA), the chairman of the subcommittee, and I were able to work in a bipartisan way to bring this bill to the floor for a vote today. This legislation addresses a problem that he and I made a top priority for this session of Congress. It establishes a comprehensive framework to make whole those employees who were placed in the wrong retirement system by the Federal Government.

Few things in life are more important to a working person than having an adequate and secure retirement plan in place to provide for their future or that of their spouse. When a worker's retirement security is jeopardized by an employer's administrative error, tremendous emotional and financial pain can result unless a remedy is available that ensures its prompt and fair correction and avoids economic harm.

At the hearings on this matter last summer before the Subcommittee on Civil Service, we heard the testimony of four employees who had been the victims of enrollment errors made by their employing agencies. In each case the employee was initially placed in the Civil Service Retirement System, then years later informed that they should have been in the Federal Employees Retirement System, better known as FERS. Afforded no recourse or options, these employees were dumped into FERS and confronted with the need to make thousands of dollars of retroactive payments into a newly established Thrift Savings account.

Hundreds of other fellow employees have found themselves in the same situation over the past 10 years. Most have been forced to rearrange their lives and financial plans to rectify a problem not of their own making. Many without financial means have had to work beyond their planned retirement dates to build a full annuity. At least one had to sell his home to raise funds to make his thrift account whole.

Our committee, our subcommittee, heard them, we felt their pain, and we assured them that we would act. This situation was intolerable, and all of us felt the same way on our subcommittee. We made a very strong promise, which we have kept to those witnesses who shared their tragic stories at that hearing that day, that we would find a remedy. I believe that with the enactment of H.R. 3249, a solution will finally be at hand.

The Federal Retirement Coverage Corrections Act would essentially permit those who have been the victims of an enrollment error to remain in the retirement system they were mistakenly placed in or to be covered by the system they should have been in. It would also hold the government financially responsible for making whole an affected employee's Thrift Savings Account. Together, these provisions will end the harm now being done by the existing rules governing the correction of these errors.

In constructing this legislation, the chairman of the subcommittee sought to achieve accountability by holding those agencies guilty of making enrollment errors responsible for the cost of their corrections, and I applaud him for that. While I agree that accountability is a worthy goal, I, nevertheless, have been troubled that the resulting budgetary pressure could lead some agencies to initiate unplanned layoffs. I told the chairman I did not want our efforts to help out one group of employees while making victims of another.

Because he was willing to work with me on this matter, we have been able to reach a compromise that achieves what each of us wanted: Simply, accountability and job security. Reductions in force to pay expenses associated with the implementation of this act would be prohibited. Agencies would be required to realize any savings necessary to avoid RIFs through attrition and limitations on hiring.

Mr. Speaker, I thank the chairman of our subcommittee for bringing this important bill before the committee. My thanks to all of my colleagues on the Subcommittee on Civil Service for their steadfast commitment to addressing the problems caused by retirement coverage errors, and for you unanimously supporting the bill at the subcommittee's markup.

Finally, my thanks to our staff and that of the Office of Legislative Counsel for their tireless work in crafting H.R. 3249. All of their efforts were essential to what we have accomplished here today.

H.R. 3249 is a lengthy and complex bill which has evolved a great deal since our drafting began last fall. The subcommittee's work in this regard has benefitted considerably from the input of the Office of Personnel Management, the Social Security Administration, and the staffs of several other congressional committees.

I very much appreciated all of their comments and suggestions.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MICA. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to yield 5 minutes to the distinguished gentlewoman from Maryland [Mrs. MORELLA], a leader in our Subcommittee on Civil Service.

Mrs. MORELLA. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding me the time.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in very strong support of H.R. 3249. It is very important legislation to remedy retirement enrollment errors. I want to add my very strong thanks to the chairman, the gentleman from Florida [Mr. MICA] and to his staff for the enormous work that they have done on this legislation.

I also want to thank the gentleman from Maryland [Mr. CUMMINGS], the ranking member. I want to also thank the Committee on Government Reform and Oversight chair and ranking member, and also the Committee on Ways and Means.

So my colleagues can see, this has been a very important bipartisan effort involving a number of committees but emanating from problems that Federal employees had and in the subcommittee markup.

At the Subcommittee on Civil Service hearing last year, we heard some horror stories of those who were placed in the wrong retirement system. We cannot make up for the pain caused by these errors, but we can indeed prevent more errors from occurring and provide as fair a remedy as possible, which is what this legislation before us does.

We must move forward quickly to remedy the errors of the past and to prevent future suffering, especially as more employees discover they are in the wrong system during the current retirement open season.

Many, possibly thousands, of Federal employees who have been hired since the inception of FERS have been erroneously placed in CSRS. Many of them do not even know that they are in the wrong system, and serious financial consequences that await them if no legislation is enacted are going to be tremendous.

Those who have discovered their retirement errors have been deprived of critically important retirement and tax benefits and they have been subjected to severe strain and they have incurred tremendous legal expenses.

So, Mr. Speaker, the legislation before us truly makes whole those Federal employees who have already been corrected, many harmed really, such as one of my constituents, Barry Schrum. Under this bill, employees may choose to remain in the retirement system in which they were mistakenly placed or to be covered by the system in which they should have been placed. If an employee chooses FERS, this legislation makes them whole by making up lost earnings in their thrift savings plans in those accounts. I am pleased that this legislation will ensure that agencies are not unduly burdened by this legislation in making employees whole again.

So again, I want to congratulate all involved, particularly the leadership that came from the chairman and the ranking member of the subcommittee and the staffs that have made it all possible. Very important legislation. I urge my colleagues to join me in supporting this legislation.

Mr. CUMMINGS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I also want to thank the gentlewoman from the District of Columbia [Ms. NORTON] of our subcommittee and the gentleman from Tennessee [Mr. FORWARD] who worked very hard to make sure that this legislation was as good as it is.

I also would like to reiterate the fact that we did work in a bipartisan way and it shows. This effort and the effort of our Subcommittee on Civil Service shows what good things can happen when we join hands and work together to lift up the lives of Americans and all people of the world.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. MICA. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, first I want to take a moment to also thank again the gentlewoman from Maryland (Mrs. MORELLA) for her leadership on this issue and several members of our subcommittee who are not with us this afternoon who also provided leadership, the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. PAPPAS) and the gentleman from Texas (Mr. SESSIONS), who also supported and help craft this legislation.

Mr. Speaker, as we conclude our debate here this afternoon and presentation, H.R. 3249 will bring long overdue relief to the thousands of victims who have been misclassified because of Federal agency errors. Many of these errors have festered for more than 10 years and the procedures for correction available under current law do more harm than good.

These errors in current procedures have really had devastating effects on individuals in our Federal employ, both financially and emotionally. It is imperative that Congress act now. As time goes by, the cost of making employees' thrift savings accounts whole actually increases and the burden for the Federal Government increases. So does the human toll taken by these agency errors.

H.R. 3249 is a fair bill. It provides each affected employee with a real choice. Employees may elect to change their retirement enrollment or employees may ratify the agency errors by choosing to remain in the system in which they are mistakenly enrolled.

The make-whole relief that guarantees freedom of choice, even for those with low incomes, is adapted from an IRS review procedure. Surely, our Federal employees and retirees deserve no less than what the IRS has prescribed as a remedy for employees who are so aggrieved or abused in the private sector.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.
